Salvatore Saetta is a Senior Vice President with Oxford Harriman & Company in New York City.

Salvatore joined Oxford Harriman & Co. in late September 2018 and has been in the financial services industry since 2007. Having been with Merrill Lynch prior to joining J.P. Morgan Securities in 2013.

Salvatore feels the reason for his success is due to his ability to create and present strategies to help meet his client's unique goals and objectives.

Salvatore oversees the trading for Oxford Harriman's clients that focus on income and risk management strategies. His role includes identifying, researching and executing equities for the investment policy committee.

Salvatore creates and presents strategies to help meet his clients' specific requirements.

Salvatore prides himself on being transparent, honest, and available when clients need him.

Salvatore studied Finance at C.W. Post University and lives in New York City with his wife and daughter and son. A car racing enthusiast, Salvatore attends racing events throughout the tri-state area as a member of the Manhattan Motor Club. Salvatore is fluent in Italian and Spanish.

In his free time, he enjoys attending sporting events, traveling, restaurants, and European history with his wife, daughter, and son.
